ANNOUNCEMENT
MADAME BERNHARDT
 Comes to the Lyceum Theatre Thursday, Aug. 30th.

Sarah Bernhardt, marvelous representative of France, breathing and living symbol of that courage which has won for her the admiration of all people for the last time, comes to the Lyceum Theatre on Thursday, Aug. 30th, for a special matinee and night performance at the Lyceum Theatre.

This is Madame Bernhardt's tenth tour of America. She comes here just previous to the opening of her special tour, the management of which she has placed in the hands of her special tour manager, the management of which she has placed in the hands of her special tour manager.

She will appear there in three distinct characterizations. In the afternoon she will be seen as Portia in the play, "The Merchant of Venice," and as Camille, in that never-to-be-forgotten death scene, which she has played for millions of Bernhardt's admirers, who never tire of seeing the sufferer's hopes and dreams of that matchless Marguerite Gautier.

In the evening, Madame Bernhardt will be seen in her most dramatic role, "A Star in the Night," by H. Cain and E. Guerin, which she will give at her first performance in New York. No play could better portray the psychology of the present moment when thousands of women are bidding farewell to the men who are going to the front, to glory and to death. As Jane de Mauduit, Bernhardt will symbolize the women of France today who have known how to smile bravely through their tears, and who have had to welcome back their heroes and to care for the wounded and the maimed.

The hero of the play is Captain Pierre, portrayed by Jean Angelo, Bernhardt's leading man, himself a hero of Nancy, who is over here on a special leave from the front, having been twice wounded in battle.

With a view to eliminating all delays between the two plays, Bernhardt's appearances, Mr. Conner, her manager, has engaged several vocal and instrumental artists to appear in the play. The following artists will appear: Jean Cooper, contralto; Annie Louise David, harpist; Gems of Art, Jean Duval & Co., and the Lyceum Orchestra.

DAVIS THEATRE.
 Four Shows Today, at 1.30, 3.15, 6 and 8 p. m.—Two Big Features, Margaret Clark in Snow White, Seven Reel Paramount Feature, and Enid Bennett in The Little Prince.

Marguerite Clark, second to none in popularity among the stars of the screen, is the star in the popular fairy tale, Snow White, which is the seventh reel Paramount feature. This is not the first time that Miss Clark has played the charming role of Snow White. She was the star of the stage version of the same tale which created a certain sensation in the theatre. The other big feature on this bill is Enid Bennett in "The Little Prince," a French peasant girl, the daughter of a fisherman and a fishwife, who, through a series of adventures, finds her way to a French peasant girl, the daughter of a fisherman and a fishwife.

culture will be shown by a mammoth exhibition of the finest specimens of the garden, meadow and orchard. The displays of ripe, juicy and toothsome fruits will make your mouth water at taste them and your heart yearn to possess them. Beautiful and attractive flowers, the pick of the connoisseurs, the choice of the home and gardeners, enormous and profuse vegetables, will be attractively displayed so that they will be pleasing to the eye and tempting to the palate.

The best hand in the country will render the latest and most popular music, all the time; the racing will be fast and exciting. Trotters of note from all over New England, attracted by the purse, are entered, and the winners of the various events will have to step some to get away with the purse.

The fair of today must have a midway and a great big open air vaudeville show, and the country fair has put on this year a program of acts direct from the big time circuit, acts that have never been seen in this vicinity, and which combine laughable, thrilling and pleasing acts too numerous to mention.

Whatever you do, don't miss this fair. It's going to be a glorious, never-to-be-forgotten day. The most glittering exuberance of grandiloquent verbiage, or polysyllabic explanation cannot properly express the excellence of the New London county fair.
